

Data Collection Form

Dear Gentlemen,

Greetings ,,,

Scientific journals are important sources for providing researchers and scholars with information that may not be found in books and other publications due to the availability of the element of modernity in the information. In the context of working to expand the research reviewing base in the journal and benefiting from the diverse experiences in engineering colleges and related research centers, and in the interest of the journal's editorial board to provide the opportunity for each specialist to contribute to the arbitration of research submitted for publication. We hope that those who wish to contribute to enriching the journal's research, fill out the attached scientific experience inventory card.

With my sincere respect

Dr. Mohamed Saleh Oun
Editor in Chief
